Few of our readers will be surprised at the strength of Dr. Morrison's communication to the Times, in which he expresses the profound indignation felt by the European residents now released from their prison in Peking at the way in which the home authorities, both in London and Washington, have continued to receive honourably the Chinese representatives to whose "shameless lies and transmission of bogus edicts' was due the long delay in the relief of the Legations at Peking. We have often had to call attention to the way in which Lord SALISBURY has had recourse to Portland Place for his information about Chinese affairs and the disgrace involved by the disregardof his own countrymen's warnings in deference to the interested misrepresenta- Hung Hem, was arrested for behaving in a tions of the Chinese Minister to Great riotous and disorderly manner in a public dreet, Britain Recently, too, we have had many and his mother was taken in charge for attemptopportunities of seeing that the United lug to rescue him when he was in custody. Mr. States Government has allowed itself to be A. Reid, of Messrs. Shewar, Tomes and Co., representative at Washington. It must, o course in fairness be admitted that diplomatic usages demanded that the persons of the Ambasadors should continue to be respected as before, in spite of the shameful violation of these usages by the Imperial clique and made the horse near, and he got off. A its followers at Peking. But that after rereated lessons any government should con. time to put any credence in Chinese assurareas, contrary to all indications of their untrastworthiness, merits nothing less than the "profound indignation" of which Dr. Morrison writes. We cannot fix the blame of thelying and deception entirely on the Chines Ministers themselves, unless we can definitely prove that they actually invented the stories and edicts. If we can so prove, steps must be taken without delay to get or two months, was imposed. The old woman rid of these culprits; runs the question of was discharged with a caution.

low to treat the disseminators of such ficlions at the command of their own central 24th ult. authorities is a difficult one and cannot summarily be answered. A Minister at a foreign court who acts by instructions is not a free agent and cannot be punished even if he knowingly deceives, except by a request for his removal. The real blame in the matter lies on those who court deception by preferring the version from an already discredited source to the urgent representations of those whose duty it is to be well informed. Sir Claude MacDonald has suffered throughout his tenure of office at Peking by the unwillingness of the British Government to pay due heed to his statements. Even had they done so early in this year they would have been in possession of a very small part of the facts. The Intelligence Department in China as in South Africa has been miserably neglected, and what little work it has done has been rendered nugatory by the incredible folly of those at home. If with a reorganisation of China no amelioration comes of the system affairs, one more lesson will have been wasted.

CORRESPONDENTS RETURN FROM PEKING.

The special correspondents of the London daily papers are beginning to come back from Peking, some arriving with the returning transports yesterday morning. In the course of a brief conversation one of them told a representative of this paper that he was surprised at the prevalence of the story that the British troops were the first to enter Peking. As a matter of fact the Russians got in on the mornreached the Legations first, and this probably led to the impression that they had the konour to enter, our informant continued, except General Gaselee himself. An interesting fact is that Japan was represented by no less than 23 press correspondents on the expedition. England coming next with 18. One English correspendent applied for leave to go with the Japanese contingent, but General Fukushima thought he had his hands full enough with his own countrymen. Mr. R. T. Head, Hongkong readers will be interested to hear, soon recovered frem his attack of dysentry and was still in Peking when our informant left. He was very popular with all at the front, we are told. With regard to China ponies, so hard to obtain before the expedition started, they are now to be picked up for next to nothing in Peking. The general impression of the correspondents seems to be that their business is over-nothing more to be

IN BANKRUPTCY JURISDICTIONS BEFORE HIS HONOUR SIR J. CARRINGTON C.M.G. (CHIEF JUSTICE.)

No. 5 or 1900.

RE HO PUI NAM AND LI SHING OHEONG, DEB-TORS, EX PARTE NG KIM TONG, A CREDITOR. AND ALSO NOS. 6, 7, AND 8, OF 1900. The Chief Justice gave judgment as follows:---By this motion certain execution creditors of the Kung Hing Shing Kee firm ask the Court for an order that an account be taken of the goods, chattels, and furniture of the firm and of the proceeds of sale thereof and of all other. if any, the moneys, effects, and property of the firm come to the hands of Mr. Brace Shepherd, as Official Receiver, Interim Receiver, or Trustee in the above mentioned bankruptcies or any of them or otherwise, and that an inquiry be made as to whother there are any and what joint creditors of the firm besides the applicants and what are the amounts due to such other joint creditors respectively, and that the joint assets of the firm (after payment of the applicants' costs) be applied rateably and pari passu in or towards sutisfaction of the amounts due to the applicants and such other joint creditors, if any, of the firm, together with interest and costs in priority to all costs, expenses, and claims in the above-mentioned bankruptoles or any of them. Notice of the motion was, by direction of the Court, served on Mr. Bruce Shepherd, and on the 27th ult. the motion was argued by Mr. Reece for the applicants and Mr. Mounsey for Mr.

Bruce Shepherd. The facts of the case are not in dispute; the only question is as to the validity of the proceedings of Mr. Bruce Shepherd as Officia Receiver, and Interim Receiver, and Trustee with respect to the distribution of the assets of

It appears that there are eight partners in the firm, four of whom, namely, Ho Pui Nam, Li Shing Cheong, Chan Sui Chuen, and Cheong Kwai Cho, are, or at any rate were, resident in the Colony, while the remaning four are resident out of the jurisdiction of the Court.

On the 5th February, 1900, under a position in bankruptcy-No. 5 of 1900-against Ho Pui Nam and Li Shing Cheong, carrying on business under the styles of Kung Hing and Kung Hing Chan, other names of the Kung Hing Shing Kee, the Official Receiver, Mr. Bruce Shepherd, was appointed Interim Receiver of the estate of the debtors. Under this order the Official Receiver took possession of the property of the firm in which the debtors were partners. On the 8th March, 1900, a receiving order was made in respect of the estate of the firm and of the dentors. On the same 8th Murch, 1900, petitions in bankruptcy-Nos. 6 and 7 of 1900-were filed agraint Chan Sui Chuen and Cheong Kwai Cho respectively, and on the 5th April, 1960, receiving orders were made in respect of their estates. On the 23rd March, 1900, a petition in bankruptey-No. 8 of 1900-was presented against

By an order dated the 30th April, 1990, and made on the application of Ng Wai Chuen, one of the non-resident partners of the firm, the receiving order made in Bankruptcy No. 5 of 1900 in respect of the state of the firm was reacinded and the Official Receiver was ordered to withdraw from possession of the said estate.

On the same 30th April, 1900, in Bankruptcy No. 8 of 1900, an order was made appointing the Official Receiver to be Interim Receiver of the estate of the firm.

On the 3rd May, 1900, the debters in Bankruptcles Nos. 5, 6, and 7 of 1960, namely Ho Pui Nam and Li Shing Cheongr and Chan Sui Chuen and Cheong Kwai Cho were severally adjudicated Bankrapts and the Official Receiver was appointed Trustoe in each Bankruptcy.

On the 9th July, 1900, on the application of Bankruptcy No. 8 of 1900, and ordering the July, 1900. Official Receiver to withdraw from possession of the estate of the firm.

Some correspondence then took place between Mr. Reece, as representing the non-resident partners, on the one side, and the Official Receiver and Mesers. Mounsey and Brutton, the solicitors for the patitioning creditors in Bankrapteies Nos. 6 and 7 of 1900, on the other. From this correspondence it appears that, in compliance with the last mentioned order, the Official Receiver withdrew from possession of the estate of the firm in Bankruptoy No. 8 of 1900, but remained in possession of it in Bankruptcies. Nos. 6 and 7 of 1900 and presumably also in Bankruptcy No. 5 of 190 . In this correspondence Mr. Rocce protested against a sale which the Official Receiver proposed to make o the goods, chattels, and furniture of the firm i these last-mentioned bankruptcles. The sale however, took place on the 17th July, 1900. the last letter of the correspondence, which. dated the 18th July, 1900. Messrs. Monnessy. and Brutton informed Mr. Reece that Bank. ruptcies Nos. 5.6. und 7 would be "administered strictly in accordance with the Bankruptcy I understand this assurance to mean that the joint estate of the firm and the separate estates of the four bankrupt partners will respectively be administered in accordance with the rules laid down in the Bankruptcy

Ordinance, 1891 If this impression is correct, there is hardly any point of sulstance in controversy between the purios, because the claims of Mr. Rescon clients, who are creditors of the joint estate, will not be prejudiced by the claims igainst the copurate estates of the four bankrupt partners. But on the point of procedure Mr. Reece contends that the Official Receiver as Trustee in the bankruptcies of the four insolvent partners has power to administer the joint estate of the firm without an order of the Court, for that purpose. On the argument of the motion he cited a number of cases in support of this contention. Mr Mountey on the other hand relied apon section 34 (3) of the Bankraptcy Ordinance, 1891, which prescribes the mode in which the joint estate of partners and the estate of partners are respectively to be administered. But this sub-section forms part of a section whi h relates to priority of payments in the distribution of the property of a bankrupt, and the August number of Cassell's Little Folks i the words in the sub-section "the joint estate strikes terror into the heart of the king of partners, have reference to the property of beasts. Fow men can ever have been placed a partnership the members of which have been the awful situation in which Mr. A. B. Lloyd, adjudicated bankrupt. This is not the case the African missionary and traveller, once joint essets must be made under the express authority of the Court. There will therefore be an order in the terms of the motion so far as it concerns this point. I do not think there is any need to direct an account to be taken of the property of the firm or an inquiry to bemade as to the joint creditors, because I understand that the joint creditors have been required by advertisement in the usual way to come in and prove their claims against the joint estate. The order must be so drawn as to cover these pro-

On the night of the 1st inst. a fire broke out upon the premises of the Electric Light Company's Works in Tokiwa cho, Ishome, Yokohama, resulting in the total destruction of of the mosquitoe larvae. This may quite well acthe premises and plant, valued roughly at yen 30,000. The fire, the Japan Hereld says, is supposed to have started in one of the rooms upstairs, where one of the firemen had carelessly allowed a quantity of burning tolacco ash to remain on the floor. It spread with remarkable rapidity, and when the officials downstairs first received the alarm from the firemen, the upper floor of the building was a mass of lames. The engine-room was soon converted into a roaring furnace, and shortly after the outbreak an impressive view of the interior of the brick building. with the chimney standing aloft in the midst of the flames, could be obtained from a great distance. Superintendent Morgin, with his brirade men. two hose reels and stand pipe, quickly proceeded to the scene and started to combat the flame with water drawn from numerous hydrants. He was assisted by the other brigades. The safety of the Minatoza Theatre situated just behindethe Electric Light Company's building. was stone time entirely despaired of but thanks to the excellent work of the brigade, it was eventualsaved together with the other reighbouring louses. The calm weather which prevailed and the solid construction of the Company's building greatly helped the firemen in their task; other wise a far greater calamity would have been inevitable. Estimates place the aggregate loss at about yen 30,100 only, this being the cost of repairing the machinery. Neither the building nor the engines were insured.

REVIEW.

Tropical Diseases. By PATRICK MANSON, C.M.G., M.D., L.L.D. London, Calselland Co. Ir is now two years since the first edition of Dr. Manson's popular treatise on Tropical Diseases appeared. The fact that "a new and enlarged edition" is already called for shows how wellappreciated by practitioners and the public this work has been. As the author, in his introduction, states, his book is not intended to compete with large or full treatises dealing with Eastern diseases, such as Davidson's and Hirsch's are, but if we may be allowed to criticise so very able and useful a book, we would say that it is too much of a compendium, a book to be recommonded by "the crammer" to be "got up" for | free from malarial disease, suffered from a argument in the favour of the Jubilee Road, examination,

Undoubtedly it is this very quality which has made the treatise so popular, but we cannot fail to remember that the practitioner, for whose use and benefit it is intended, is not a raw student, straight from the Lecture-room and Hospital, whose sole ambition is not to be plucked, but a fully qualified medical man who, let us hope, has made the most of his time in special hospitals, or as assistant to private practitioners, or bition soars beyond a third-rate practice in a country-towner mining district, and who is determined to seek for name and fame in the gorgeous East. Dr. Manson states (p. 28) that the mosquitos

They point out as a still more potent factor that anopheles swarm in the dirty native quarters and aggregate in dirty native villages " when the European houses will be almost free, and combat the popular theory "that natives are less prone to malarial disease because they are not so frequently bitten," showing they are as liable to attack by mosquitoes, but do not show it, their skin being less irritable. From these various statements it may safely be concluded, we have much still to learn about the genesis of

A statement is made that Hæmo-globinuric fever, so common in Africa, occurs in South China. The writer in a long experience has never met such a case, except in those returned from Africa and infected there.

An interesting fact is noted that, contrary are more sensible. They also have their land to what might be expected, rapid anamia is out of proportion to the number of plasmodia found in the blocd and an explanation is given that it is probably owing to the lowered haemoglobinuric value of the blood corpuscles. The writer can support this view, having lost a young patient living in a not markedly malarious district, whose death was due to extremely rapid blood deterioration, though the blood did not contain by any means numerous plasmodia.

On p. 97, an ingenious explanation of the production of haemo-globinaemia, is given, viz., that India and Africa uninhabited, not to mention on the breaking up of the plasmodia, in the ordthe well-known care of the Roman Campagna, inary cycle of the fevera digestive agent, which it where the population is about nil, in which the had previously used in absorbing individual bloodcorpuscles, is set free and then runs riot amongst and attacks healthy corpuscles, setting free given is that blackaphores exist in the soil, and havmo-globin, thus producing one of the most On p. 102, the author shows that our bodies contain a defensive agent which kills malaria, i.e., phagocytes, which being let loose eat up the plasmodia. Our object should be to cultivate these beasties just as we would bees. That which promotes their well-being is warmth, rest, good food, the comforts of a hospital and the removal of the patient from the district or place where the opposing battalions are recruited; tonic influences, i.e., good air and cheerful society help the phagocyte, depressing influences, as a wetting, a surfeit, overfatigue, anxiety, grief, favour the development of plasmodia. Our author in giving recommendations to the new arrival states that one of the greatest causes of breaks-down in the East is that he (the new arrival) "will persist in dietetic habits appropriate to his native land," which seems to be a thrust at overeating, but a little further on he consoles us by stating: "the well-fed stand the climate best; even moderate excess is better than underfeeding; which may be the reason that a British worknullahs at West Point, down the Peak Road, man will do twice as much work as a native. botween Magazine Gap and Aberdeen, at Many persons think that because they have not Quarry Bay, at East Point behind the old fever they cannot suffer from malaria. The writer, for instance are supposed to be useful because the mosquitoes information, the gist of which our author kas has never known malaria spread through the object to their smell; in fact, in the prophylaxembodied in his work. In the writer's student- wards of a hospital in this manner, nor have is of malaria the mosquitoe turns up everywhere days "Tropical medicine" was as unknown a inquiries amongst other eastern practitioners like King Charles's head. The author dogmatises on p. 113, that if you have no mosquitoes malaria is also absent. At Capsuimoon lately a severe outbreak of malarial fever occurred amongst visitors there and the one good thing the sufferers could say about the place was "there were no mosquitoes-we never had to use nets.' We give the fact for what it is worth. Our author tells us (on p. 147):- "Mosquitos nets must invariably be used. Ten and coffee, very small doses of alcohol are decidedly of service.' The writer's putients did not use the latter, hence perhaps the fever.

The author points out that acclimatisation, experience. i.e. not exposing queelf and being careful to avoid chills, etc., and education, i.e. adopting the wisdom of others, together with an intelligent adaptation of habits to climate are amongst the most powerful safeguards against malarial infection, and to support his argument he mentions the comparative immunity of Chinese from fever. This hardly tallies with the Hongkong experience, where almost the first warning of a house being unhealthy is that the servants "are down with fever" and that "Missusee no can catchee new boy" "or cook, too muchee fear." Of course the less healthy condition of servants' quarter may partly account for their greater susceptibility. In the chapter on trestment, p. 131, a point of practical interest long known to the writer is mentioned, viz. that quinine acts best in solution, whils t a warning is conveyed against antipyrin and phonacetin, "which are much abused in many "malarial countries," which in these days of tabloids and "every man his own doctor" should be noted. Quinine still holds its place as the most efficient remedy, but "its actual mode of action is as obsenve as over." A small dose may start a malarial attack a course of mineral waters or hydropathic treatment have the same effect, and the writer would add, though it is not mentioned by the author, a good drinking bout will be a more efficient factor in producing a good burst of malaria than all the other causes mentioned combined. On p. 139 the necessity of giving quinine at once in any stage of grave fever insisted on, a point which should be well digested, so many "wise women" and "old hands that know everything" will shake their heads at the doctor who orders quinine "when the fever is on.

Many persons vomit quinino as soon as taken and the author gives numerous remedies to overcome this idiosyncrecy, but curiously enough does not mention the simplest mode of all, viz the hypodermic injection of quinine. It is clearly an oversight, as a few pages further on in connection with another matter it is noticed. Enchining which is mentioned as being useful for children, is also fregmently well borne by adults, who cannot retain the ordinary quinine preparation. The use of salicylate of sods in the haemoglobiauric fevers of Africa is, mentioned and it is a carious fact that many of

The writer believes that quinine is the most efficient drug, but cannot agree with the author that arsonic is useless in fever and only of bonefit in the sequelae. In many cases where quinine has failed a combination of "Arsenic and Bark" (which contains many Alkaloids besides Quinine) has been found most efficient. The consideration of the other subjects with which the author deals will be taken up later, distant 2.86 miles. CHI YAO BANK OUTER BUOY: A 6-foot, conical, red Buoy surmounted by a black, inverted frustum cage, moored in 23 feet of water, with Drinkwater Point Lighthouse bearing N. 580 W., distant 7.11 miles. Also that the Drinkwater Point [Fairway] Buoy. No. 28 in the latest published List, has been replaced by a red conical busy surmounted by a black spherical care.

REMARKS. According to the latest soundings, the most direct track, for vessels of heavy draught enter. ing by the North Channel, is to pass between 1 and 2 cables South of Shaweishan Bank Buoy. and steer so as to bring the Buoy to bear East by the time Shaweislan Lighthouse bears N.E., then steer for the Drinkwater Point Buoy passing I cable south of it; from which point a course, made good, of N. 890 W., passing 3 cables south of Ch'i-yao Bank Outer Buoy, leads soonest into deep water. After deepening to fathoms a mid-channel course may be steered till abreast of Linchino Lighthouse, after which the directions given in Notice to Mariners No 116 (Special) may be followed.

Keeping the track above described, the least depth between the Shaweishan Bank Buoy and the Drinkwater Point Buoy should be 20 feet; between the latter and Ch'i-yao Bank Outer Buoy 21 feet, increasing to 25 feet when abreast of the last named Buoy. All bearing given are magnetic and all depths are for low water of spring tides.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

WATER-CORROSION OF GLASS-MOTION OF DISSOLVING CRYSTALS-PROTECTIVE PACK. INC-PROTOGRAPHS ON UNCOATED METALS THE GREATEST POLAR PROBLEM-AUTO-MATIC: TRAIN-BAVING-ELECTRIC WATER-PROOFING-SPINNING MACHINES OF ANTS.

Workers in glass, especially opticious, are warned that certain kinds of glass appear to be so soluble in water that moisture quickly etches the surface and destroys the transparency. M: E. T. Mondy, of Decca College, East Bengal reports having noticed the dull appearance of a cut wine-glass and of finger-howls in which water had been allowed to stand, also the spetting of two decanters which had been dried after partial draining. These effects were all due to water-stching. This explains the rapid deterioration of optical apparatus in the moist dimate of India, and proof that the fault is in the kind of glass used is furnished by the object-glass of a 31-inch telescope, the inner weather. surface of the convex' lens being badly corroded while the adjacent face of the concave lens was quite clear.

The motion of camphor in water is well known. readily soluble substances as potassium cyanide. potassium nitrate, silver nitrate, calcium chleride, petassium permanganate, and sugar, and of splintering and firing of wood. Goods, Silks, Woollen and Cashmere has studied their travels in dissolving by drop-Showls and other Sundry Goods; 4, ping single crystals upon mercury covered by water or dilute acid. The movements—greater in dilute acid than in water-are very characteristic. The crystal first takes azigzag course, then changes to a circular path, and finally turns rapidly on its axis. The rate of motion varies with the rate of solution and the surface tension of the mercury.

> The new method of packing used for ship. ments of butter from Melbourne to Kimberley is recommended for delicate articles in general. The boxis made from six panes of window glass, closed at the edges with gummed paper, and this is given a heat-insulating covering of plaster of Paris, the whole being wrapped in waterproof paper.

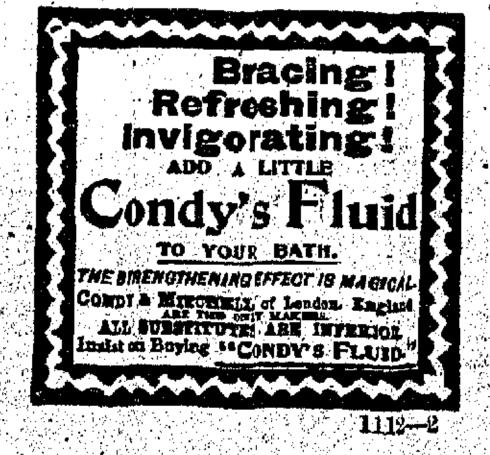

The curious fact is noted by a French observer that nightingules devour the drones of a hive without harming the workers.

An interesting discovery that has been forgotten for more than half a century was lately brought to notice by Maj. Gen. J. Waterhouse, In 1842 Moser found that silver, like its com. pounds, is sensitive to light, and that a distinct image could be formed on a clean silver plate by expasing to sunlight for two or three hours behind a black tablet with cut-out characters and then developing over mercury vapour. He obtained similar results with copper, concluding that all substances are changed by light. Taking up the investigation. Gen. Waterhouse has proved that the photographic image may be visible after exposure, but that, whether visible or invisible, it is clearly brought out on metallic silver by mercury vapour or developing solutions acting on the silver. The photographic action on other metals, except lead, appears to be very slight, although not yet fully tested. Experiments thus far made indicate that the cause of the action cannot be heat or pressure, but that the effect is due to the blue and violet rays of all kinds, 50, & 52, Queen's Rd. Central, light. Whether it is a result of exidization is yet to be learned, apparently pure silver, it is known, often containing occluded orygen.

> The importance of a magnetic survey in the vicinity of magnetic poles seems to have been overlooked by explorers. Dr. Cook, of the Belgian Antarctic Expedition, points out that a geographical survey is of far less consequence. although vastly more difficult, in the region of the poles. Even the position of the magnetic poles is yet to be fixed. Many years ago the northern magnetic pole-was found to be in the north-western part of British North America, but its place is steadily changing and is not now exactly known. Even less has been learned of the southern magnetic pole, all that can be said being that a circle 500 miles across could be drawn on the eastern end of Wilkes Land with the certainty that the pole is within it.

A novel Russian device for lessening damage in railway collisions consists of an iron tube connected with the system of brakes. Cuts are so made on the tube that it becomes broken on the slightest irregularity of movement of the train, and this instantly sets the brakes. In a late test at Vershbolovo, a train reaching displaced sleepers and one passing upon displaced rails were promptly stopped without damage.

Success in waterproving cloth by the aid of electricity is claimed by Mr. J. T. Van Gestel after somewhat discouraging failures. The fabrics are saturated in a bath of soluble metallic salts, to which the dye is added, and an electric current is passed through them while in the bath. Suitable apparatus ensures the treatment of both sides alike as the material is passed through. The action is not clearly understood, but it appears that a metallic oride of some kind LARGE STOCKS EVERY DESCRIP. is formed by the nascent exygen liberated by the electric current, and this fills the pores of the fabric, giving a water-resisting surface, and at the same time serving as a mordant to fix | DOMBAY-BURMAH TRADING COR. the dye.

A remarkable exhibition of the web-spinning powers of the red ant (Cophila smaragdina) has been reported by Mr. E. G. Green, of the Botanic Gardens at Peradeniya, Ceylon, A breach having been made in a structure of leaves on which they were at work, the ants quickly drow the edges of the leaves together, and about an hour afterward they were seen to be passing buck and forth norces the gap two white grabs, from whose mouths issued continuous threads o silk that the ants were using to repair the damage. The larvae had evidently been brought from a nest some distance away. Lack of proper nesting places, too little water, the English sparrow, boys, collectors, birds on hats, and the cat, are among the causes of the decrease of song birds enumerated by D. Lang. He suggests protection and encouragement of the birds by planting trees and shrubs for them to live in, putting up nesting boxes for breeding, providing water for feeding and bathing, and feeding in unfavourable

The firepreof building material known as uralite-much used in Russia for furniture, etc .-- is a compressed mixture of asbestos, chalk silicates, sulphuric acid, sulphate of alumina A German chemist, K. Schaum, has taken such | etc., saturated with glue and mineral colour. It combines the advantages of stone with those of wood, and on battleships it removes the dangers

NOW ON SALE IMPERIAL QUARTO TINGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTIAND MANDARIN

PRONUNCIATION.

For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are The Indo-China steamer Kumsung, from here given in extense. Each and every word is for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given. The P. & O. steamer Bangal left Singapore | the accents being carefully marked on the best Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of The N.D. L. steamer Sucheen, carrying the space, achieving a clearness not previously
